SU AT A GLANCE

The resources of a University ...

6,800 students from 38 states and 36 foreign countries . . . 42 undergraduate and 11 graduate programs . . . 301 full-time faculty, 91 percent of tenure-track faculty have terminal degrees, including National Endowment for the Humanities scholars and Fulbright professors . . . NCAA Division III Athletics, 10 men's, 11 women's intercollegiate teams; 27 intramural sports

... with small-school opportunities.

Approachable faculty (16:1 student/faculty ratio) . . . Honors program with dedicated faculty at the Bellavance Honors Center . . . Ten residence complexes including traditional, co-ed, suite and apartment styles.

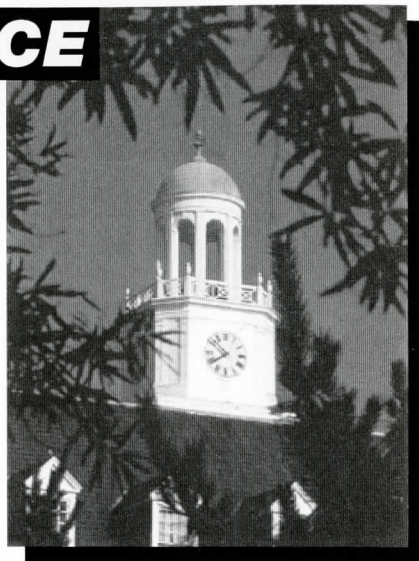

The security of state support ...

2003-04 tuition, room, board and fees: $12,014 per year for Maryland residents; $18,902 per year out-of-state.

A library with over 800,000 volumes, periodicals, microforms and databases including word processing and computer labs. Access to collections throughout the country.

... with the benefits of private funding.

Altogether, SU awards some $1.2 million in academic scholarships each year. More than $29 million in private endowments supports some of those scholarships and provides for some of the finest educational programs.

In an ideal—and idyllic—location:

Salisbury, MD, is 30 miles west of the Atlantic Ocean and Ocean City, MD, and 20 miles east of the Chesapeake Bay; 2 hours from Baltimore, Washington, D.C. and Wilmington, DE. The campus is 2 1/2 hours from Norfolk, VA, and Philadelphia, PA, and 4 1/2 hours from New York.

Come see us—in person, or in cyberspace. We'd love to see your smiling face, but if you can't get here, check out our Web site. We're at www.salisbury.edu.

SU's campus is in an attractive, residential neighborhood of stately homes on sculpted lawns, less than one-half mile from the banks of the Wicomico River. The campus includes 45 buildings on over 145 landscaped acres. Students walk from one end of campus to the other in about five minutes.

hockey program in 2003 by joining an elite group—coaches who have led their team to a national championship. With a 4-1 win over Middlebury in the NCAA Championship Game, Chamberlin's squad captured the 2003 national title and completed a 20-1 season. The latest championship simply adds to Chamberlin's long list of accomplishments with the Sea Gulls. SU captured its ninth straight Capital Athletic Conference championship in 2003 and returned to the NCAA Championship Tournament for the 19th time in 20 years while also advancing to the final four for the seventh time.

Chamberlin, who ranks among the most successful coaches in school history, has a 241-78-8 career record in her 17 seasons with the Sea Gulls, including 37-4 over the past two seasons. The program has produced 34 national All-Americans—including two more in 2003—and 74 all-region players during Chamberlin's tenure. Salisbury's has also dominated the Capital Athletic Conference, sweeping the conference's individual awards for the fourth straight year in 2003.

Chamberlin, who registered her 200th career victory during the 2001 campaign, has been honored as the NFHCA's South Region Coach-of-the-Year four times, including 2002. She has also been named the Capital Athletic Conference's Coach of the Year in each of the past nine seasons. She led her squad to an amazing streak of 45-straight CAC victories between 1996 and 2001.

Chamberlin is a 1985 graduate of the University of Iowa, where she was a four-year letterwinner on the highly successful field hockey team. The Hawkeyes won the Big Ten championship outright from 1981 to 1983, before sharing the top spot in 1984. The '84 squad finished second in the nation. Chamberlin, Iowa's co-captain as both a junior and senior, was also a member of the national indoor championship team and was selected to the All-Big Ten team during her senior year.

While at Iowa, she also received the Women's Intercollegiate Athletic Academic Award (1982-1985) and the Physical Education Academic Achievement Award (1983-1985). Chamberlin earned her Master of Education from Salisbury in 1987 and her doctorate from the University of Maryland in 2000.

A TRADITION OF SUCCESS

During the past two decades, Salisbury has established itself as one of the premier field hockey programs among NCAA Division III institutions. The Sea Gulls are one of just nine schools to have captured the national championship since its inception in 1981, claiming the top prize with an undefeated 21-0 campaign in 1986 and again in 2003 with a 20-1 record. Since their first visit to the NCAA postseason tournament in 1984, the Gulls have become a regular contender for the national title, with appearances in 19 of the last 20 NCAA postseason tournaments through the 2003 season.

In addition to the national championship in 1986 and 2003, SU has advanced to the Final Four on five other occasions, finishing as a national semifinalist in 1987, 1988, 1992, 2000 and 2002. Additionally, the Gulls have been national quarterfinalists four other times since 1989. Salisbury's outstanding facility has also served as a regional host site for the national championship tournament on five occasions, including 2003, and host of the Final Four in 2000.

The Sea Gulls notched 10 consecutive winning seasons from 1983 to 1992 and finished in the top ten in the final rankings in each of those seasons. The Sea Gulls finished the 1997 regular season as the number one ranked team in the final NCAA Division III national poll, placed second in the final poll of 2001 and 2003, and third in the final 2002 poll. SU has reached double-figures in wins in 19 of the last 21 seasons, and has averaged 14 wins per year during Dawn Chamberlin's tenure as head coach.

Salisbury also claimed its ninth straight Capital Athletic Conference championship in 2003. The Sea Gulls compiled a record 45-game conference winning streak between 1996 and 2001.

Quality programs are comprised of talented individuals. Salisbury is well represented on the national and regional all star teams each season. During Chamberlin's tenure, the Gulls have produced 34 national All-Americans and had a total of 74 players selected to the all-South Region team. Additionally, Chamberlin has been honored as the region's Coach-of-the-Year four times and the Capital Athletic Conference's Coach of the Year nine times, including once again in 2003.

SALISBURY CLAIMS ITS SECOND NATIONAL CHAMPIONSHIP

With a dominating 4-1 victory over undefeated Middlebury in the national championship game on November 22 in Annville, PA, Salisbury claimed its second national championship and further secured its position among the nation's field hockey elite. The Sea Gulls closed the year with 11-straight wins and finished 20-1 on the season.

Even Head Coach Dawn Chamberlin, who has piloted the Gulls for the past 17 years and has been the architect for much the program's success, had difficulty expressing her emotions following the championship game. "This is great and words can't express how we feel," said Chamberlin. "We played lots of tough games this year and had a difficult bracket against stiff competition in the tournament, so we really earned it. It's a very emotional and overwhelming feeling to win the championship. We've been so close so many times before and to finally break through is very, very sweet."

Following a 1-0 win over perennial champion College of New Jersey in the national semifinal, Salisbury seized quick control of the championship game against the Panthers. Freshman Tracey Lloyd scored unassisted just 5:22 into the contest to give the Sea Gulls a lead they wouldn't lose. Sophomore Brittany Elliott then tallied the first of her two goals, assisted by junior Erin Budd at 11:14, to push the advantage to 2-0.

Middlebury cut the lead in half by halftime, but Salisbury left no doubt in the final 35 minutes that the championship would return to Maryland's Eastern Shore after a 17-year absence.

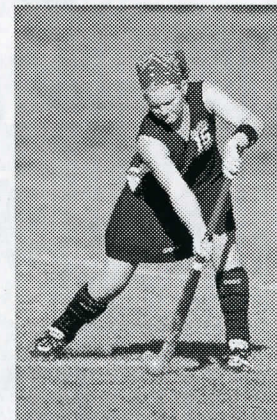

Brittany Elliott tallied her second marker at 41:29, assisted once again by Budd, and sister Lindsey Elliott added some insurance just five minutes later with her 18th of the year, assisted by freshman Abbey Rowe, as Salisbury seized control.

"We knew they would score," said Chamberlin on Middlebury. "We just knew we needed to score more. Having a 4-1 lead in the second half took a little of the pressure off."

Led by seniors Sara Saubier, Megan Bailey and Kelly Murphy, the Sea Gull defense allowed few Panther challenges over the final 25 minutes. Senior goalie Melissa Taylor finished with seven saves, including just three in the second half.

Sometimes statistics don't give the true measure of a game, but in this case, they were close. Salisbury finished with an 18-10 edge in total shots, including 13-3 in the second half, and a 15-3 advantage in penalty corner opportunities, including 10-1 in the second half.

"I thought we took control of the game right from the start," said Chamberlin. "We played space very well and we also held our ground. We knew what we wanted to do and we went after it."

SU'S ATHLETICS PHILOSOPHY

Salisbury University, a member of the National Collegiate Athletic Association's (NCAA) Division III, offers 21 intercollegiate sports for men and women. In addition to NCAA membership, SU competes as a member of the Capital Athletic Conference (CAC) and the Eastern College Athletic Conference (ECAC).

As a member of the NCAA's Division III, Salisbury places the highest priority on the overall quality of the educational experience. In doing so, it seeks to strengthen the integration of objectives and programs in athletics with academic and developmental objectives, and to assure the integration of athletes with other students.

SU places special importance on the impact of athletics on the participants, with emphasis on the internal constituency (students, alumni and special friends) rather than on the general public and its entertainment needs.

The SU athletics program is further characterized by the following principles:

- Participants receive the same treatment as other students. They have no unique privileges in admission, academic advising, course selection, grading, living accommodations or financial aid. Similarly, athletes are not denied rights and opportunities that would be available to them as non-athletes.

- Sports for men and women are given equal emphasis and the desired quality of competition is similar in all sports.
- Students are supported in their efforts to reach high levels of performance by providing them with adequate facilities, competent coaching and appropriate competitive opportunities with students from similar institutions.
- SU strives to make the student-athlete's participation in intercollegiate athletics an enriching experience, and holds genuine concern for each participant's welfare. The intercollegiate program's foremost goal at all times is to supplement and enrich the first priority of the University, which is academic accomplishment.
